Missing a flight can be one of the most stressful travel moments, and many flyers hope there's a grace period that lets them still catch another flight without big penalties. If you're asking "Is there a grace period after missing a Frontier flight?", this guide explains how Frontier Airlines handles missed flights, whether any time buffer exists, what options you have, and when you should call for help. For immediate support and personalized rebooking options, call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707 to speak directly with a Frontier Airlines travel agent.

What Does "Grace Period" Mean?

A grace period in airline travel typically refers to a short window of time after the scheduled departure during which a passenger might still change or catch another flight without penalty. Some airlines provide a brief buffer (such as 15–30 minutes) after departure for changes or walk-on rebooking. But policies vary widely, and it's important to know Frontier's stance.

Does Frontier Airlines Have a Grace Period After Missing a Flight?

No — Frontier Airlines does not offer an official grace period after a missed flight. Once boarding closes and the aircraft departs, your original reservation is usually considered a "no-show."

Here's how it works:

- ✓ Once your flight actually departs without you, the airline treats it as missed.
- ✓ Frontier typically cancels the remainder of your itinerary if you miss the first flight in a multi-leg trip.
- ✓ No automatic time buffer exists after departure that allows you to board the same flight or automatically be placed on the next one.

If you think you might miss your flight or have already missed it, call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707 right away for help exploring your options.

What Happens If You Miss a Frontier Flight

Once the flight leaves:

- ◆ Your ticket may be marked "no-show."
- ◆ Remaining segments of your itinerary may be canceled.
- ◆ You may need to buy a new ticket or rebook for another flight.

However, depending on your fare type and timing, you may have some options — especially if you’ve added flexibility benefits. To check what applies to you, call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707*.

What You Can Do After Missing a Flight

Although there’s no grace period, you still have options:

1. Call Frontier Immediately

The sooner you call after missing your flight, the better chance you have of securing a seat on the next available flight. Agents at 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707* can check availability and rebook you.

2. Use Flexible Fare Options

If you purchased a Flight Flexibility add-on or flexible fare bundle, you may be able to change your reservation with reduced or waived change fees — provided you contact Frontier before the original departure or as soon as possible after.

Call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707* to confirm whether your ticket included such benefits.

3. Apply Credits or Refunds

If your fare qualifies for a credit or partial refund, agents can apply it toward rebooking your new flight. Ask about this option when you call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707*.

Why Calling Right Away Matters

Once boarding and departure are complete, Frontier’s system may prevent online rebooking or date changes for a missed flight. That’s where phone support becomes crucial:

- ✓ Agents can check multiple flight options in real time
- ✓ They can apply any travel credits, fare bundles, or flexible benefits
- ✓ They can help avoid paying full fare for a new ticket if possible

To speak with a Frontier Airlines agent and review your next steps after missing a flight, call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707*.

Fees and Fare Differences

If rebooking after missing a flight, you may encounter:

- ◆ Change or rebooking fees (unless waived)
- ◆ Fare differences if the new flight costs more
- ◆ No refund for flights you cannot use

Changing soon after missing your flight — especially if you call 📞 +1-877-622-0707 or +1-877-622-0707* — can help minimize these costs. Agents can clearly explain the fees that apply to your exact situation.

- ✓ Check in online well before takeoff
